

“Interconnected Medieval Worlds”

A conference funded by the Middle Ages in the Wider World Multi-Campus Research Program and organized by the Medieval Studies Program at UC Santa Barbara

OCT 13 & 14, 2017

“Rethinking the Global Middle Ages”

Keynote Lecture by Peter Frankopan, Professor of Global Studies, Oxford University

FRIDAY, OCT 13

Pedagogy Session, 1-3:30 pm featuring
Teofilo Ruiz, Brian Catlos, Geraldine Heng

Keynote, 4pm

SATURDAY, OCT 14

Session on “People and Ideas,” 10-12 am with David Gordon White on Eastern Views of European Demonology; Rudolph T.
Ware on Muslim Networks in West Africa; and Lori De Lucia on the Saharan-Mediterranean Slave Trade

Session on “Japan and World History,” 1-2:30 pm with Joan Piggott on Medieval Japan and World History; and Kaitlin Forgash on Selling
People and Japanese Legal Codes

Session on “Peoples and Regions,” 3-4:30 pm, with Anabel Ford, Keith C. Clarke, Claudia Knudson on Classic Mayan Cities; and Michael North on Frisians, Norsemen, and Slavs as Mediators

Full program and registration on <http://middleagesinthewiderworld.org/registration>. Please register so we can estimate refreshments.

For further questions or information email english@history.ucsb.edu or kalina.yamboliev@gmail.com